When he's like he currently is, there's a 50% shot he's good to go with outside events and 50% shot it takes everything out of him :( I'm not able to read him or his emotional state when he is like this. (Please don't ever tell him I told u about a meltdown. He is very private and sensitive with them). 5/11/23 11:33 am (Teacher) Ok thank you for letting me know I won't tell him 5/11/23 2:57 pm (Mom) He won't be in 5/1/23 2:58 pm (Teacher) Ok thank you for letting me know	3

				Good Morning,          [REDACTED] will be unable to attend any further sessions of comp Ed this summer. As your all aware, my girls and I were in a head on collision on 5/15 where I sustained multiple injuries that require ongoing medical attention and surgeries. This started a hardship on me trying to get him to and from anything while being down a vehicle and having injuries. On 6/25 [REDACTED] and my husband were in an accident when someone fell asleep and drove into them at 75mph. While there were no injuries in that crash, it damaged the 2nd vehicle we have. While we thought it was minor damage at first, time has showed us it is not. And finally, during the process of documenting car accident damage to my chest, another issue was found.          I am now going threw surgical procedures &amp;&amp; oncology appointments the next couple weeks to determine if what was found outside of the damage is breast cancer.          With all of this going on &amp;&amp; [REDACTED] not having his liscense, only a permit until he can attend segment 2, it's just not physically possible to get him to the sessions.          I am requesting we extend the service till 12/31/23 so we can provide them for him at a later date that would work for everyone.          Please let me know.          Nyssa 7/14/23 at 2:13 pm, Nicole (Assistant Superintendent) sent the following response:          Good afternoon, Nyssa.          Thank you for reaching out to let us know that things are so difficult for you and your family at this time. In order for [REDACTED] to receive the services that he needs, we will provide transportation over the next 2-3 weeks. I will drive to Bronson and pick him up and return him home after his sessions.          Please work with Mr. Anderson to determine his schedule. Then you can let me know about his transportation needs.
